AGENCE K COMMUNICATION

Agence K is a communications and marketing agency founded by Yacine Lebdiri and Beatrice Cotfas, two professionals who joined forces with the shared ambition of refreshing how communication campaigns are conceived and delivered. Their philosophy centers on bringing together people who share the same worldview, ethics, and standards to keep pace with an intense and increasingly interconnected world.

Their defining metaphor is transforming "walls into doors" — the agency sees itself as a mirror that authentically reflects a brand to its audience. This approach is built around three core values: Reliability (treating client goals as their own), Justesse (placing the brand at the center of the creative process), and Acumen (an awareness of timing and the drive to deliver effective, time-efficient solutions).

What sets the agency apart is its team — the "Originals Unit" — a diverse group whose varied professional backgrounds mean they often understand a client's industry from the inside. This is paired with ongoing market analysis covering trends, consumer behavior, and decision-making patterns, ensuring campaigns are grounded in real insight rather than guesswork.

Agence K's portfolio spans consumer tech, retail, and social-impact work, including campaigns for OPPO, OnePlus, Apple x Altex, TransferGo, Legrand, and Apcom IT Distribution. They also lead cause-driven initiatives such as "Dăruiește Lumină" and "România Sigură", alongside experiential projects like the Harghita Hill Climb Challenge — demonstrating equal comfort across corporate launches, lifestyle activations, and socially conscious storytelling.

IDEA FILM AROUND THE WORLD

We created Idea Film, several years ago, during a cup of coffee. So yes, it didn't take long till we figured out that this is what we wanted to do, together. And then, we drank some more coffee with clients that became our friends. This didn't take long either. We continue to do so with old friends and new clients and collaborators. Some things don't need to change. This friendly approach and our background in film and commercial production for over 16 years was appealing to more than 80 clients from all over the world.

Today there are more than 400 projects we took part in. Our passion and our never resting curiosity urge us to discover visual and storytelling concepts that can improve or refresh the perception of your company within your target audience. We can offer everything you need from concept development to the final product. And, of course, a cup of coffee. Let's not forget that we have the coolest jobs in the world.

With a cup of Joe
